Statistical structures – completeness of metrics and connections

Barbara Opozda

Abstract

A statistical structure on a manifold consists of a metric and an affine connection. The completeness of each of the two abjects is discussed. Few theorems are presented together with some historical context.